

BORUCH LEV

20 years ago a structural engineer from behind the “iron curtain” immigrated to the United States and uncovered his passion for creating in clay and other mediums.

Boruch Lev continues to uncover brilliance and capture movement of the universe in form, line, texture and contrast. In the process he has created a body of work containing many critically acclaimed pieces that have shown in international competitions in US and Asia. He has also found a career that has allowed him to live and create full time out of his home studio in Skokie.
